

U.S. LABOR PARTY MOVES TO COUNTER MURDER THREATS BY UNITED AUTO WORKERS OFFICIALS

LORAIN, Ohio, Oct. 29 (IPS)--The United States Labor Party is taking legal and political action today against leading officials of the United Auto Workers after the second armed murder threat by UAW officials against Labor Party organizers within a week occurred at the Ford Lorain plant yesterday.

Labor Party Michigan State Senate candidate James Eades, threatened at gunpoint at the plant gate yesterday, immediately registered a complaint with Loraine police and filed charges this morning. Labor Party lawyers are also in the process of filing charges of conspiracy to commit assault with attempt to commit murder. Named in the suit in addition to yesterday's assailant will be UAW President and Trilateral Commission member Leonard Woodcock; UAW Director of Region 2A, William Cass Stevens; and Ford International Representative for Region 2A, Sam Carr.

Labor Party organizers and supporters already are prepared for national mobilization if a return rally today at Ford Brookpark in Cleveland, where earlier murder threats and attacks have occurred, is attacked again. Labor Party forces have been alerted to take action around the new Loraine attack.

Eades was taking part in an electoral campaign New Solidarity distribution at the Ford Loraine plant in Loraine, Ohio when the homicide threat occurred.

A Ford Fairlane automobile pulled up to the curb near the Labor Party distributors. The driver, who was wearing a UAW jacket bearing the name-patch "Osborne--UAW Committeeman," beckoned Eades over to the car as if to ask a question. As Eades leaned close over the open car door, "Osborne" suddenly pulled a .38 caliber revolver from under the car seat. Shoving it into Eades side "Osborne" said, "Next time you come here, I'll blow you away!"

In addition, "Osborne" will be charged with concealing a deadly weapon and assault with intent to murder. Tomorrow, the U.S. Labor Party will deliver a letter to Acting President of Ford Local #425, Mike Cumberland, demanding that "Osborne" immediately be dismissed from his position as Committeeman and delivered over to the appropriate authorities for psychiatric examination and treatment.

Evidence of a Woodcock-directed conspiracy against the Labor Party is overwhelming. Prior to today's threat of murder in Loraine Labor Party organizers elsewhere in Ohio this month have been subjected to thug attacks at the Perrysburg Chrysler plant near Toledo, and to attempted thuggery, obscene phone calls, and telephoned bomb threats from the UAW local President Wayne Medders of Cleveland Ford Brookpark. Other simultaneous incidents of harassment directed by UAW officials occurred in Detroit; Wilmington, Delaware; Rock Island, Illinois; Indianapolis; and Syracuse.

The intent behind the conspiracy is to cripple and contain U.S. Labor Party organizing which successfully has focused the growing politicization of auto and other workers against the fascist National Employment Priorities Act, authored by Trilateral Commissioner Woodcock's staff and sponsored by Trilateral Commissioner Senator Walter Mondale. The Labor Party campaigns especially have exposed massive in-plant drug, alcohol, and "troubled worker" brainwashing programs aimed at militants, which Woodcock has pioneered for Rockefeller, and Woodcock's role in planning the Nov. 12 "coal strike" to engineer industrial collapse.

ITALIAN CP CHIEF AMENDOLA BACKS ROCKEFELLER'S LINE FOR EUROPE

Oct. 29 (IPS)--In a public speech Oct. 26, Giorgio Amendola, the Rockefeller agent in the Italian Communist Party (PCI), called for making Europe into a "third force."

This is precisely the strategy outlined by the Rockefeller Trilateral Commission's secret meeting in Bellagio, Italy two weeks ago.

To make sure he would not be misunderstood, Amendola identified his demands as identical with a proposal by Altiero Spinelli. Spinelli, the Italian Common Market Commission representative, is a CIA agent and fellow traveler in Trilateral circles. In his speech, Amendola also mouthed the fascist Zero-Growth line put forward by John D. Rockefeller III and he demanded an explicitly corporatist solution to the present economic crisis.

Amendola's colleague in the Italian Communist Party's Central Committee, Gian Carlo Pajetta, called for a merger of the PCI with the infamous Second International in an interview in the PCI's weekly Rinascita. Identified long ago by the Soviet Union as a bevy of agents, the Second International is now dominated by agents like United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock and Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky. Fresh from the Warsaw conference of European Communist Parties where he helped lead the implementation of a Chile-style "National Road to Socialism" turn, Pajetta elaborated on Amendola's plans to sell out Italy's working class. Pajetta in the Rinascita interview dug up the Yalta Memorandum, which infamous PCI leader Palmiro Togliatti issued from his deathbed. This memorandum insists on the "National Roads" theses which successfully aided the spineless Togliatti in subverting the Italian revolution after World War II.

The situation, engineered by traitors in the PCI leadership, was summarized by the financial daily Il Globo. Controlled by key Rockefeller operative Ugo La Malfa, Il Globo proclaimed that detente is dead because world communism is in shatters.
