

On June 2 French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues, evidently trying somehow to mitigate the impression left by the sensational statement of the Chief of Staff of the Armed Forces of France, said in a government radio interview that the statement supposedly "contains no new elements, unless (unless! — Pravda Ed.) you count the fact that we will try, through the strengthening of our armed forces, to fulfill our obligations."

And then followed the already traditional affirmation: "We left the united organization of the Atlantic alliance in 1966, in order to preserve our independence in taking decisions. We excluded any return to the united organization."

Lovely. But the what need for the above-cited phrase — unless you count the fact that we will try," etc? This question naturally arises in the mind of many French, and not only French, politicians.

This, for example, is what former Defense Minister and former Prime Minister General Pierre Messmer said — and he is someone who certainly knows what he's talking about on military questions: "This presumes that our armed forces will from now on be deployed under NATO command New ties between NATO and the French staff will undoubtedly be created This is a leap backwards. This is not progress. This is a retreat."

And Messmer, emphasizing that this is a matter of "a fundamental change in French doctrine," recalled that "for 10 years the French armed forces were no longer slated for taking up some section of a front against Czechoslovakia or the German Democratic Republic, but were rather held in reserve, in a fashion."

The French Socialist Party figure Chevenement said: "The military policy of the government is leading to a return to NATO. This policy ignores the interests of France. It gives priority to the hypothesis of conventional conflict in Europe between the two blocs. It ignores the special characteristics of our geographical location.... In brief, it is a bread with the policy of independence and sovereignty which was conducted by General DeGaulle."

The statement of the Politburo of the French Communist Party, states that General Mery has asserted the inclusion of the country's military means into the NATO system. This, says the statement, betrays an intention "to turn our army into an auxiliary force of the West German army on the borders of the socialist countries." The authors of the new doctrine refer "to the Soviet Union and other socialist states of Europe as enemies" of France. Such a policy, notes the statement, "runs counter to international relaxation of tensions and peaceful coexistence."

Such are the outcries evoked by the statement of the Chief of Staff of the Armed Forces of France on the new strategy. To this it remains to add that, as Le Monde reported on June 3, "the explications given by General Mery were not improvised. They were first communicated in March, to the Higher Research Institute of National Defense.... There is no basis to suppose that the Chief of Staff of the Armed Forces made his statement without the approval of the highest governmental authorities."

All the more urgently and acutely, then, do broad circles of the French public now pose the lawful question: where can this new military doctrine lead France?

We think that the fundamental national interests of France lie not in playing up to the interests of the aggressive NATO bloc, but in ensuring all-European security and cooperation on the basis of strict observance of the Final Act of the all-European (Helsinki) conference and the Principles of Relations between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the French Republic, signed at the summit level.

The vital interests of all the peoples of Europe demand strict and consistent implementation of the extremely important tenets of those documents.

The Hidden Story of Rocky's Nuclear Machine

Nelson Rockefeller and Henry Kissinger:

The History of Their Attempts to Blow Up the World

June 11 (NSIPS) — The Rockefeller family, directed by Nelson Rockefeller, has over the last 30 years built up a political faction of nuclear madmen — known in official circles as "Utopians." The insane strategy of the Utopians for "winning" World War III against the Soviet Union by nuclear warfare terror descends directly from the theory of Fascist Italy's Commissioner of Aviation General Giulio Douhet for "command of the air" and the Nazis' strategy of massive bombing of civilian population centers known as "Terrorangriff."

The Rockefeller Utopian faction organized their fascist private nuclear war plotting apparatus directly out of their World War II Strategic Bombing Survey and British-linked Operations Research groups. After the war these were constituted as the Rand Corporation, the Hudson Institute, the MITRE Corporation, and later in the 1960s, the Institute for Policy Studies — an apparatus that is now completely interfaced with such key Rockefeller-controlled government and military agencies as the National Security Council, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the U.S. Air Force, the Energy Research and Development Agency (formerly the Atomic Energy Commission), and the head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This private machine constitutes Rockefeller and his Utopians' own command and control apparatus for nuclear war and is the vehicle for their relentless, insurrectional drive for the button.

Rockefeller and his Utopians have held the world hostage for more than 30 years to their insane nuclear warfare terror drive. It was the Rockefeller Utopian cabal that was directly responsible for the A-bomb attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. It was the same Rockefeller Utopian cabal that set up and staged the Cuban missile crisis as a pretext for what they hoped and expected would be a final nuclear warfare showdown victory over the Soviet Union. It is this same fascist Utopian war-planning machine that today — in open defiance of the policy of President Ford — is attempting to launch a nuclear war in the Middle East to prepare the way for an anticipated thermonuclear showdown confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Utopians versus Traditionalists

Rockefeller and his Utopian cohorts have fashioned their nuclear "doctrine" around Douhet's completely discredited thesis that massive terror bombing of selected civilian population centers — or even the communicated threat of such bombings — will physically and psychologically destroy any nation's will to resist and guarantee victory in any modern war.

The Rockefeller Utopian crazies have dictated their rules to the Soviet leadership for a gradual or limited nuclear war. Rockefeller and his Utopian faction propose that they can use nuclear weapons when and where they choose to defend their self-defined strategic interests with immunity. They are anxious to play a nuclear warfare chicken game with the Soviet leadership — a nuclear chicken game that is designed to prepare a massive first strike nuclear attack on the USSR to be followed by invasion and conquest once the Soviets have "backed down." The fact that the Soviets have publicly and explicitly rejected any notion of "limited" or "regional" nuclear war and have made it clear that they would fight a total all-out nuclear war in the face of any Rockefeller-instigated nuclear attack has not yet dissuaded the Rockefeller Utopian madmen.

Their Traditionalist opponents have included all the occupants of the White House from Truman on and most of the country's military leaders — especially from the Army and Navy — as well as the large majority of the country's elected representatives in Congress.

Traditionalists believe the purpose of nuclear weapons is to prevent total war. They see nuclear weapons as detering World War III.

Traditionalists firmly maintain that there is a distinct "firebreak" between nuclear and non-nuclear weapons. Committed to the defense of the nation, the capitalist Traditionalist adopts one or another version of the Mutually Assured Destruction (MAD) doctrine. They use diplomacy to seek a reduction of tensions and a limitation of the arms race. For the Traditionalist, there is no such thing as a limited or gradual nuclear war: any such war the United States begins, the Traditionalists realize, necessarily means at best mutual annihilation.

Even such a bullet-headed Yahoo as the late Traditionalist General Douglas MacArthur in 1955 blasted the Rockefeller cabal's demand for a preventive nuclear war against the Soviet Union: "War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose. No longer does it possess the chance of a winner of a duel — it contains rather the germs of double suicide."

While the United States enjoyed a distinct advantage in strategic weaponry and delivery capability, the Rockefeller Utopian cabal did everything in their power to force U.S. Presidents to launch a "preventive nuclear war" against the Soviet Union regardless of the consequences.

The Rockefeller Utopian cabal has never made a distinction between conventional and nuclear war — they regard nuclear weapons as conventional. The Rockefeller Utopian policy is one of immediately escalating all regional conflicts to the nuclear level if possible.

Rockefeller and his Utopians have constructed an elaborate command-and-control structure replete with "wonder weapon" technological gadgetry, and have permeated existing governmental institutions to prepare the execution of their aims.

For 31 years, while Rockefeller held a gun at the heads of Presidents, the world has trembled under the nuclear terror fostered by the psychotic Rockefeller Utopians. The often lonely and steadfast battles against Rockefeller's crazed nuclear rampage demands fought by elected presidents of the United States — Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Nixon, and now Ford, themselves virtual prisoners in the White House — have thus far prevented the Utopian push over the edge. Fortunately for mankind, Rocky never captured the White House and all the men who have occupied the presidential seat of power have been Traditionalists.

Today, Rockefeller's nuclear war drive is far more dangerous than ever before. The clinically insane Rockefeller is once again in open insurrection against the president of the United States. He and his hireling Henry Kissinger seek nothing less than nuclear "Reichstag Fire" terrorist attacks leading to the establishment of police states and a simultaneous nuclear warfare showdown with the Soviet Union to be kicked off by a Mideast regional nuclear war.

Rockefeller's Hiroshima and Nagasaki

Nelson Rockefeller was right in the middle of World War II war planning. Not only did he run the office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs (CIAA) as a Nazi collaborator — working in coordination with the I.G. Farben spy networks in the United States, Latin America, and Vichy France — but also he was instrumental in setting up the entire U.S. strategic bombing (terror bombing) capability during the war.

The two strategic bombing outfits Rockefeller established were the so-called Operations Research Group (OR) — which later became the Rand Corporation — and the Strategic Bombing Survey. Their assignment was to study the effectiveness of Nazi and Italian fascist terror bombing, to assess the results of the Allied saturation bombing against population centers, and to plan future terror and nuclear bombing attacks.

The OR Group, which included future Secretary of Defense McNamara, was headed by Rockefeller family flunky Dr. James B. Conant, chairman of the U.S. National Defense Research Council. The Strategic Bombing Survey, which the Rockefellers set up in coordination with the Morgan financier faction and their insurance company, Prudential, was directed by some of Nelson Rockefeller's top hirelings. The Strategic Bombing Survey was run by CIAA Deputy Director Paul Nitze, and such other Rockefeller-Morgan braintrusters as George Ball, John Kenneth Galbraith, Henry Alexander, and Rensis Likert. Inspired by the Nazi and Italian examples of mass mental and physical destruction through terror bombing of population centers, these Rockefeller fascist outfits advised that the fire-bombing of Dresden and the dropping of atomic bombs on Japan would secure a great American psychological warfare victory.

The Rockefeller hatchetmen controlling President Harry Truman — including Rockefeller lawyer and War Department head Henry Stimson; his assistant John J. McCloy, Rockefeller banker and future president of David Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan; and Conant — made the final decision to use the A-bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, hiding from Harry Truman the now well-known fact that the Japanese were on the verge of complete surrender.

The explicit reasons for the heinous Rockefeller-authored nuclear decision, made apparent in government documents released years later, was to threaten the Soviets with the same A-bomb treatment if they did not surrender Eastern Europe to ultimate political and military control by U.S. imperialists. Rockefeller dropped the bomb to prevent 1 million Soviet troops poised in Manchuria, from occupying Japan.

Previously, official joint U.S.-Soviet occupation of Japan had been agreed upon in diplomatic negotiations. Rocky wanted Japan all to himself.

Seen in this light, one might think that the A-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki was the first act of the Cold War. Actually, Nazi collaborator Nelson Rockefeller had already beaten the A-bombs to the punch. In July, 1945 in San Francisco, shortly before the atomic attack on Japan, Nazi-collaborator and CIAA director Nelson Rockefeller barged uninvited into the San Francisco conference meeting to draw up the United Nations charter and plan the formation of that body. Rockefeller demanded first that the Monroe Doctrine be incorporated verbatim into the UN charter! He demanded that the fascist Argentine Axis-government of Juan Peron be officially recognized by the UN body! He demanded that the Soviet Union not be allowed to hold Eastern Europe! Asserting that the UN should not be allowed to exist unless the body accepted his outrageous and provocative demands, Rockefeller concluded his tirade by accusing the official U.S. conference representatives, Alger Hiss and Dorothy Fosdick, of selling out to the Communists!

In one blow, this was the actual start of the Cold War and McCarthyism. Only an incredible accomodation by Stalin prevented the UN from aborting at birth.

In 1946, Rockefeller was already trying to run the U.S. government from his position as Undersecretary of State. He was pushing Truman to use the limited U.S. nuclear arsenal as quickly as possible against the Soviet Union before the Soviets got the bomb. He continued his support and collaboration with fascist Juan Peron against the express orders of President Truman.

Fed up with what he called "Rockefeller's insubordination" (that is, insurrection), Truman fired Rockefeller in 1946.

Rockefeller Utopians Demand Go-For-Broke

The Rockefeller cabal and his CIA cohorts wanted to shoot the works with their then-limited arsenal of A-bombs against the Soviet Union shortly after the World War II armistice.

The Rockefeller madmen were not even held in check by the knowledge that they did not yet possess the capability to destroy the Soviet Union through nuclear attack and that the Red Army would justifiably occupy all of Europe with ease immediately following any such nuclear strike. In recognition of this fact, NATO's official policy line at its formation was "Hold the Pyrenees" if the Soviets moved on Europe in response to a U.S. nuclear strike.

If the U.S. had won the race for the H-bomb, the Soviet Union would have likely been wiped off the face of the earth.

Details of this heinous secret nuclear conspiracy against the Soviet workers' state are supplied in insider accounts of the history of the Rockefeller Utopian cabal's mad drive for nuclear preventive war. Readers are referred for some of the details to the revealing and informative accounts by former Navy officer and State Department official, the staunch Traditionalist James Lowe in The Age of Deterrence and the Traditionalist Col. Fletcher Prouty in The Secret Team.

This Rockefeller plot in the 1946-49 period is a matter of public record. Soon after the war, in 1946, 73 U.S. scientists who had been OR specialists, with Army, Air Force and Rockefeller family funding, founded Project Rand, the forerunner of the Rand Corporation, to carry on the genocidal tradition they had recently initiated. By 1947, the U.S. Air Force was founded as the cabal's own private military branch with the Utopian motto, "Unhindered by tradition."

In 1948, Rockefeller sponsored the "Finletter Report" of Thomas Finletter (later the organizer of the CIA's Eugene McCarthy campaign in 1968) which urged an atomic attack against the Soviet Union. Major Alexander P. De Seversky published a similarly Rockefeller-sponsored call for an atomic attack on the Soviets in his book Victory Through Air Power. Rockefeller-Buckley flunky James Burnham wrote the "bible" on the need for a preventive nuclear war against the USSR during this period. The Luce family's Air Force Col. C.J.V. Murphy, editor of Fortune magazine, then was — and still is — the major press conduit for Rockefeller's preventive nuclear war propaganda. At the same time, Fabian Bertrand Russell in Britain was publicly calling for the nuclear annihilation of the Soviet Union, before "the totalitarians" got the "ultimate weapon."

The 1949 B-36 hearings, for example, were a mere pretext for promulgation of the psychotic Utopian nuclear scheme.

All the talk in the Rockefeller circles was "rollback," of the Iron Curtain, "liberation," and "preventive war." As Traditionalist James Lowe strongly suggests, the 1948 suicide of Navy Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, a Traditionalist, was caused by the enormous pressure on him from the Rockefeller-Utopian cabal to A-bomb the Soviet Union despite the deficiency of U.S. conventional forces in Europe.

Rocky and Dulles Brothers Demand "Nuke 'Em"

Throughout the 1950s, 1960s, and 1970s, Nelson Rockefeller has been looking desperately for any angle, opening, gimmick or trick to start and win a nuclear war. With the failure of the Marshall Plan to provide the necessary economic recovery for looting purposes in Europe, and with Truman holding fast against Rockefeller demands for a preventive nuclear war adventure, Rockefeller was forced to settle for the limited Korean War. In 1950, Rockefeller created the so-called U.S. Psychological Warfare Board (USPWB), appointed himself head of it, and launched a nuclear sabre-rattling black propaganda campaign that destabilized the world situation and precipitated the Korean conflict. John Gunther, stationed in Japan at the time, reveals in his book Douglas MacArthur that U.S. government and intelligence agencies started the Korean conflict by deliberately beginning war forays into North Korea to which the North Koreans responded with force.

In 1953, with a Republican national election victory, the Rockefeller Utopian retinue moved in force on the U.S. government, taking over the new Republican administration. John Foster Dulles, the old Standard Oil-I.G. Farben lawyer from the firm of Sullivan and Cromwell, took over the Secretary of State position; Allen Dulles, John Foster's brother, became head of the CIA; and Nelson, in 1954, created for himself the post of Special Advisor to the President for National Security affairs in order to manipulate Eisenhower into a nuclear first strike at the first propitious moment. Immediately John Foster Dulles announced the so-called New Look and his infamous nuclear first strike doctrine of "massive retaliation." The hideous doctrine publicly and explicitly posited that the U.S. would launch a massive nuclear first strike against the Soviet Union upon any Soviet "interference" with U.S. economic, political and military interests in regional areas (that is, anywhere in the Third World).

With the Korean War stalemated, Rocky and the Dulles brothers in the saddle, and the Air Force's Strategic Air Command elevated to a position of complete supremacy in the military, the Dulles "massive retaliation" doctrine was put right into action. As noted by writer and historian John Spanier along with Sherman Adams, the "Ron Nessen" of the Eisenhower administration, Rocky and Dulles tried to start a nuclear war just before the Korean armistice was signed!

In May 1953, Dulles told Indian Prime Minister Nehru that the U.S. was going to use tactical atomic weapons to "provide a tremendous beef-up in the United States punch." Air Force Reserve Colonel C.J.V. Murphy reported that a squadron of F-84G jets was sent to Japan at that time, armed with tactical atomic weapons ready for use.

During 1954, Rocky and his Utopians rode herd on the administration. The Atomic Energy Commission under Lewis Strauss was an insider to the Dulles "massive retaliation" horror: the Army knuckled under, with its attack from McCarthy; the Dulleses had the State Department and the CIA pursuing all-out for preventive nuclear war; and, as James Lowe points out, "the Department of Defense had been stormed by the Utopians." From Rand Headquarters at Santa Monica, Cambridge, Mass., and Princeton, N.J., Rockefeller utopian madmen — mathematicians, physicists, and economists — were churning out nuclear war scenarios and gameplans for implementation by the National Security Council, the Rockefeller-Rand SAC Command, NATO, and other key command-and-control points in the Utopian factions now fully coordinated in the nuclear warfare private machine.

In this period Rockefeller activated his henchmen, including Senator Joe McCarthy and pseudo-scientist Edward Teller to disorient and silence dissenting Traditionalist opposition to the Utopians' preventive nuclear war policy. The Army-McCarthy hearings and the Robert Oppenheimer hearings were but two examples of this witchhunt against the Traditionalists.

Only the White House had not been completely captured. President Eisenhower, a conservative Traditionalist at heart, overruled the Utopians in his cabinet and executive branch and torpedoed Rocky's drive on three specific occasions: "massive retaliation" in Indochina in April, Quemoy in September 1954, and at the Tachen Islands in January.

Special Advisor to the President for National Security Affairs, Rockefeller, and the Dulles brothers had been in a berserk rage and desire to go for broke since the August 1953 Soviet development of the H-bomb. When the Soviets deliberately demonstrated their long-range jet bomber delivery capability in July 1954, it sent Rocky and the Dulleses into a total psychotic rampage demanding that the U.S. nuclear arsenal be thrown at the Soviet Union at once.

Eisenhower, facing the same Utopian nuclear onslaught that Gerald Ford is facing from Rockefeller and Kissinger today, was forced to hold a press conference on August 11, 1954 to state his firm Traditional beliefs and his firm opposition to nuclear war: "... a 'preventive war' is unthinkable because, by whatever name it is called, it would still be war, and an atomic war to boot. It would mean that in fear of future dangers we would be courting suicide and the annihilation of our civilization — a policy not of wisdom but of desperation."

When he realized its implications, Eisenhower completely skuttled the Rockefeller-Dulles "massive retaliation" New Look. In September 1954 Eisenhower overruled his "State and military advisors" Dulles and Rockefeller when the Communist Chinese began shelling Quemoy and the Utopian "fire-eaters" wanted to blast the gun emplacements on the mainland. In December 1954, Eisenhower overruled them again when they demanded an atomic strike over the Communist Chinese shelling of the Tachen Islands. In 1958, during the Lebanese crisis when U.S. Marines invaded Lebanon, Eisenhower overruled the Rockefeller Utopian government once again.

Enter Henry Kissinger

Mad bomber Henry Kissinger's 1957 Council on Foreign Relations study, financed by the Rockefeller Family Fund, Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy, was the basis for a Rockefeller Utopian counterattack against Eisenhower and a renewed bloody drive for a preventive nuclear war — the so-called "New, New Look." "In the event of war," psychotic Rockefeller flunky Kissinger wrote, "which side is likely to gain by fighting a limited nuclear war? Here our superior industrial potential, the broader range of our technology, and the adaptability of our social institutions should give us the advantage . . . It will be strategically most productive to use weapons sufficiently complex to exploit its industrial advantage, sufficiently destructive so that manpower cannot be substituted for technology, yet discriminating enough to permit the establishment of a significant margin of superiority."

"The introduction of nuclear weapons on the battlefield will shake the very basis of Soviet tactical doctrine," Kissinger continued, expounding Rockefeller's new doctrine of "limited nuclear war." "Everything depends on leadership of a high order, personal initiative, and mechanical aptitude . . . self-reliance . . . spontaneity . . . and initiative (that) grow naturally out of our social institutions."

It was Nelson Rockefeller who first personally presented Kissinger's findings on strategic doctrine to the U.S. Congress in the late 1950s. Similarly, when his proposals were stymied first by President Eisenhower and then by President Kennedy, it was Nelson Rockefeller who proposed to Congress in 1962 and again in 1963 that NATO Supreme Commander should be given the power to order the use of American nuclear weapons with or without the consent of the President of the United States. President Kennedy firmly rejected the idea making a final definitive statement on the matter in October 1963 — one month before his assassination.

With the public unveiling of the Kissinger limited nuclear war doctrine, the Rockefeller Utopian crazies launched another nuclear surge from 1957 to 1960. After the Soviets launched the Sputnik affair, Rockefeller released the Rockefeller Foundation-sponsored and Henry Kissinger-authored "Mid-Century Report" and pushed the trumped up "Missile Gap" hoax and the massive "civil defense" "fall-out" shelter scare, developed in collaboration with Herman Kahn's Hudson Institute and the Rand Corporation.

Nelson Rockefeller, who acquired the nickname in higher political circles of "Fallout Shelter," tried to finalize his plans for nuclear war with his insane personally-directed national fallout shelter campaign. Then governor of New York, the Strangelove of American politics demanded that every American build a fallout shelter in his back yard. Companies went into mass production of fallout shelters. Rocky then orchestrated a psychological warfare terror campaign to prepare the population for nuclear war. Among its themes was: "Should you shoot your neighbor if he tries to enter your fallout shelter?"

At the same time, Nelson Rockefeller and the Rockefeller Foundation financed the so-called Rockefeller Mid-Century Report, authored by his flunky Kissinger, which demanded that the United States begin an all-out escalation of nuclear arms and missile production to "put the U.S. in a position to win a nuclear war." It further called for the reorganization of the U.S. Armed Forces and Defense Department, placing exclusive emphasis on nuclear weapons. The Report also proposed to cripple conventional branches of the military in order to leave no other course than nuclear showdown and, ultimately, nuclear war.

The Real Story About The Cuban Missile Crisis

Rockefeller's grip over the new Kennedy administration was complete. Among the Rockefeller Utopian controllers were: Rosewell Gilpatrick, Under Secretary of Defense and former Secretary of the Air Force; McGeorge Bundy, Special Advisor to the President on National Security Affairs and Rockefeller front man; George Ball, Undersecretary of State and one of Rockefeller's old Strategic Bombing Survey boys; Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury and an old banking partner of Rockefeller from the Dillon, Read and Co.

investment firm; John McCone, Director of the CIA from the Rockefeller-Bechtel combine; Dean Rusk, Secretary of State and former Rockefeller Foundation president; and Robert McNamara, Secretary of Defense and Ford Motor Company executive from the old Operations Research.

In 1962, it was suddenly announced that the supposed missile gap was a hoax, that the U.S. had a 4 to 1 nuclear advantage, and Rockefeller was once again moving all out to prepare a nuclear showdown with the Soviet Union. Defense Secretary McNamara was sent by the Rockefeller Utopian cabal to announce in his infamous June 16, 1962 speech in Ann Arbor, Mich., that the United States is prepared to launch a "counterforce" first strike against Soviet missile silos. McNamara laid out "Marques of Queensbury" rules for a nuclear chicken game. In this speech, Rockefeller announced to the world that the U.S. was going to preserve the "option" of fighting a "controlled thermonuclear war." The Rockefeller Utopian cabal was intentionally setting up a nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union. The Cuban missile crisis was a direct result of their heinous conspiracy.

The response of peace-loving forces all over the world was shock at this bald pronouncement of intentions to prepare a nuclear first strike attack. The French under Gen. Charles DeGaulle's direction, immediately established the independent force de frappe.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, on July 10, 1962 at the World Conference on General Disarmament and Peace, declared that "the league of war-industrial monopolies, the 'death merchants,' and the zealot militarists — this military industrial complex as ex-President Eisenhower described it — is heating up the arms race to a frenzy." Khrushchev answered the McNamara "doctrine" directly: "The U.S. press says that McNamara's statement had the approval of the White House, and interprets it as a sort of proposal to the Soviet Union on 'rules' of conducting a nuclear war . . . It is a monstrous proposal filled from beginning to end with a misanthropic disdain for men, for mankind, because it seeks to legalize nuclear war and thereby the murder of millions upon millions of people . . ." Khrushchev further accused the United States of plotting "preventive war" under the cover of "taking the initiative."

The fact that the entire rotten affair was a Rockefeller setup for nuclear war was confirmed by the recent public admission of former West German Chancellor Willy Brandt that he and neo-Nazi Franz-Josef Strauss, former West German defense minister, were in contact with "high government officials" (that is, the Utopian planners) and were prepared to go to war over Berlin one week before the Cuban missile crisis, but that Kennedy nixed the plan! Lowe in his book The Age of Deterrence confirms that "the obvious issue (such as Berlin or Cuba) was to use any Communist aggression as the pretext to get in the first strike."

In the face of the cabal's public announcement of plans to commit nuclear aggression, in the summer of 1962 the Soviets sent defensive anti-aircraft weapons and SAM missiles to Cuba. CIA estimates, since made public, noted this and informed the President that this constituted no threat whatsoever to the United States.

Then in August 1962, Rockefeller ran a psychological warfare operation to prepare the crisis atmosphere for the anticipated provoked nuclear showdown with the USSR through his front man, the Republican Senator from New York, Kenneth Keating. Keating began announcing in a hoked-up black propaganda campaign that the Soviets had delivered offensive nuclear weapons — fully weeks before they were shipped!

Accounts by administration insiders including Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. and Roger Hillsman provide ample evidence of the phony Rockefeller orchestration of the entire affair. Schlesinger, in his book A Thousand Days, reveals that Bundy, CIA Director John McCone, and other top Executive Committee members withheld from Kennedy the “information” about missile installments in Cuba until they had their “case prepared.”

In mid-October, at the first Ex Com National Security Council meetings on the crisis, Rockefeller's Utopians presented Kennedy with an ultimatum — an air strike, a “surgical operation” to eliminate the bases in a sudden surprise attack (that is, a nuclear attack on Cuba). Bobby Kennedy immediately demanded some other alternatives: “Surely there was some other course than bombing.” The Attorney General, as Roger Hillsman reveals, made clear that he did not want to see John F. Kennedy go down in history as “the American Tojo.” “For the United States to attack a small country without warning,” he said, “would irreparably hurt our reputation in the world — and our own conscience.”

This move would certainly have precipitated a general thermonuclear war. Fortunately, the more sane and cautious President Kennedy, with his brother and the late Adlai Stevenson, then U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, negotiated a face-saving compromise with Khrushchev.

Kennedy publicly repudiated and rejected the nuclear brinkmanship policy foisted upon him by the Rockefeller gangsters. On June 10, 1963 Kennedy said, “. . . And above all, while defending our own vital interests, nuclear powers must avert those confrontations which bring an adversary to a choice of either a humiliated retreat or a nuclear war. To adopt that kind of course in the Nuclear Age would be evidence only of the bankruptcy of our policy — or of a collective death wish for the world.”

President Kennedy began to increasingly resist the Rockefeller fascist invisible government machine and the CIA. He had already fired Allen Dulles as head of the CIA in 1962. In 1963 Kennedy halted another Rockefeller-CIA Bay of Pigs invasion plan and resisted the Vietnam buildup. Against the express wishes of the Rockefeller crowd, Kennedy sent Averell Harriman to negotiate the 1963 Test Ban treaty with the Soviet Union. Just months before he was assassinated, Kennedy sought to open negotiations with Fidel Castro in Cuba to achieve detente.

The evidence is overwhelming that Kennedy paid for his actions for world peace and his intransigence against Rockefeller with his life. In November 1963, the President was shot and killed — a coup d'etat had occurred in America. Since that time, the presidents of the U.S. — Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon, and Gerald Ford — have been prisoners of the Rockefeller apparatus, trapped in a controlled environment under the Rockefeller gun, as the assassination of presidential candidate Robert Kennedy in 1968, the attempted murder of George Wallace in 1972, and the two recent assassination attempts on President Gerald Ford — dramatically attest. Rockefeller and Kissinger, in open insurrection against the U.S. government since 1963, decided to forego the expenditure of a bullet for Richard Nixon, settling on an NSC-CIA “destabilization” operation to drive him from office.

There is extremely strong evidence to indicate that the assassination of Kennedy was designed to initiate yet another nuclear warfare showdown with the USSR. Lee Harvey Oswald, the alleged assassin, was in fact a low-level CIA brainwashed zombie agent and patsy. He was infiltrated by the CIA into the USSR and planted in several CIA-created phony Cuban support groups to give him an artificially constructed left identity. Rockefeller and the CIA doubtless planned to blame the Kennedy assassination on the USSR and Cuba, but this was aborted when the CIA took 48 hours to bump off the patsy Oswald. Unmistakable photographs showing Watergate burglars and Rockefeller United Fruit-Standard Oil employees Howard Hunt and Frank Sturgis — both publicly admitted CIA agents — present near the site of the assassination in Dallas dressed as tramps have appeared in major U.S. press. The two were also veterans of the Bay of Pigs. In fact, the 1975 Rockefeller Commission on CIA activities devotes an entire chapter of its report to covering up Rockefeller's role in the assassination plot by desperately seeking to discredit incontrovertible photographic evidence. Earlier, the Warren Commission, headed by the omnipresent lackeys Allen Dulles and John J. McCloy, had covered up Rockefeller-CIA culpability in the assassination.

As part of his nuclear endgame scenario, Rockefeller is now stating that Lee Harvey Oswald was a Cuban agent.

Immediately following the Kennedy assassination, Gen. Maxwell Taylor and McNamara ordered a massive escalation of the Vietnam war, a move to which Kennedy, of course, had refused to acquiesce.

Around the same time in 1963, the Institute for Policy Studies was established by head of the National Security Council special staff, Marcus Raskin. The Institute from the beginning began setting up the networks of terrorist gangs and countergangs that could later pull off a “nuclear Pearl Harbor” as a pretext for Rockefeller police state rule and that could be used as a 1984 fascist infrastructure.

Writing in the Liberal Papers, the Institute's Manifesto, published just before the founding of the Institute, I.P.S. Associate Fellow and Harvard Sociologist Daniel Riesman said that what the U.S. needed was a Fabian Society, modeled after the British, to break down existing institutions.

Rockefeller on to Nuclear Armageddon

For the next ten years, the Rockefeller cabal carried out the most massive terror bombing of a civilian population in history in Vietnam. This was part of a rung-by-rung escalation of that war which never came off because the Soviets adhered in the most principled way to MAD. It was part of the Rand-Hudson Institute nuclear war game escalation ladder — from the Gulf of Tonkin incident to the Christmas 1972 bombing in Cambodia.

While raining genocide down on the Vietnamese population and attempting to get their fascist infrastructure in place in Western Europe and the U.S. for the final showdown, Rockefeller and Kissinger were still trying to provoke a nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Driven by the deepening worldwide economic depression, the threatened collapse of the U.S. dollar, Rockefeller instigated the Israeli-Arab October 1973 war and the ensuing oil hoax. Simultaneous with the drive to establish police state Schachtian regimes in the U.S. and Western Europe, the Rockefeller Utopian cabal in January 1974 publicly resurrected Kissinger's "limited nuclear war doctrine" using Rand madman and then Secretary of Defense James "Rodney the Robot" Schlesinger as their mouthpiece.

Despite the fact that the Soviets now enjoy at least a marginal advantage in nuclear weapons and warfighting capability, despite the fact that the Soviets have time and again publicly announced that their policy is that "limited nuclear war" is not possible; and despite the fact that the Soviets have declared that any attempt to impose Schachtian police state regimes in the West is their tripwire for nuclear war — a war which would kill over 150 million Americans and devastate the economies of the West — nonetheless the Rockefeller Utopian cabal plunges madly forward to nuclear Armageddon.

Today nuclear maniacs Nelson Rockefeller and Henry Kissinger are conducting an insane drive to precipitate a regional nuclear war in the Middle East and a nuclear Pearl Harbor terrorist attack on a major Western population center in order to bring about a nuclear war show of force confrontation with the Soviet Union. Their fellow Utopian conspirators are all in place in key positions in nuclear command-and-control posts: Kissinger protege and Council of Foreign Relations graduate Gen. Alexander Haig heads NATO; Rockefeller flunky and Deputy Defense Secretary for Intelligence Robert "Lazard Freres" Ellsworth has just installed Thomas Lattimer, certified creature of the Utopians, as coordinator of all military intelligence networks; Rockefeller-Kissinger flunky Brent Scowcroft oversees the National Security Council for his bosses over and against President Ford; Air Force General and student of James "Rodney the Robot" Schlesinger, nuclear Utopian madman Gen. George Brown is the head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and holds the military under his trigger-happy button finger; and so forth.

Unless Nelson Rockefeller and Henry Kissinger are removed from office and their international Utopian nuclear warfare machine dismantled, Rockefeller and Co. will launch World War III by no later than early 1977.
