

the policy since. Mondale's campaign advisers include three high-level Kissinger operatives—William Hyland (editor of Foreign Affairs), Winston Lord (Kissinger's former aide and current President of the New York Council of Foreign Relations), and Viron P. Vaky (National Security Council Latin American expert).

The Trilateral Commission was the Jimmy Carter administration, which the American public so decisively rejected when Reagan was elected in 1980. Aside from Mondale and Carter himself, 18 Trilateral Commission members held top positions in that administration. Of the 35 names on Mondale's advisers list today, 23 were members of the Carter administration, the presidency so decisively humiliated in the last elections because it reeked of pure immorality.

The dirty boys network

Walter Mondale and Henry Kissinger are not merely U.S. national security threats because of their defense and economic policies. They are the outfront political spokesmen for a "worldwide dirty boys network." Mondale and Kissinger—along with Kissinger's business partner and NATO heir-apparent Lord Carrington—run the political protection for child pornography rings, pedophilia, drug pushing, cults, and terrorism, as we shall document in the following pages.

In this Special Report, we detail the following aspects of the supranational network which Mondale and Kissinger represent:

1) How the Hubert Humphrey Institute, named for Walter Mondale's political mentor and now the keystone in the Mondale machine, has functioned since the downfall of the Carter-Mondale regime as a center for every subversive conspiracy against the United States as a nation and the American System tradition, including collaborating with the Soviet KGB to such ends. Only those naive enough to believe that Henry Kissinger is a "Republican" partisan will be surprised to learn that Kissinger was in on the ground floor in establishing this center for bringing American high-technology industry and agriculture to an end, and the Reagan administration along with it.

2) How Walter Mondale personally, along with the Carter-Mondale administration as a whole, facilitated the development of the mass-murdering Rev. Jim Jones cult as a political asset.

3) The Mondale connection to the political networks that appease and protect—under the guise of "human rights"—the perpetrators of kidnapping and child sexual abuse rings that claim a quarter million children every year.

By raising the specter of Caligula as President of the United States, the enemies of Western civilization hope to destroy the fighting morale of the American citizenry. The hideous Sodom and Gomorrah is meant to be installed after the global showdown, as Moscow's satrapy in Washington. Read the following dossier carefully. There is no prospect worse than being a "survivor" in Moscow's Third and Final Roman Empire.

The think tank

by William Engdahl

On May 24 of this year one of the most significant political gatherings of recent history took place in Minneapolis, Minnesota, at the commercial center of world agricultural commodity trade. Under security provisions normally given only heads of state, a delegation of the highest levels of Soviet military and political intelligence operatives quietly gathered for five days of strategy planning to prevent the re-election of President Reagan in 1984.

Despite the formal protests of a number of U.S. senators, and with extraordinary security clearance from George Shultz's State Department and the FBI (whose head, Judge William Webster, publicly contradicted President Reagan's charge that the U.S. and European "peace" movement was being run out of Moscow), 25 Russian intelligence operatives converged on Minneapolis. They met with the architects of the anti-Reagan nuclear freeze movement, including George Rathjens of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), former chief U.S. delegate to the Pugwash East-West disarmament forum, and a leading enemy of President Reagan's beam defense policy; Randall Forsberg, initiator of the Nuclear Freeze resolution, a frequent visitor to Moscow, and former staffer of the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI); Marcus Raskin of the radical left Institute for Policy Studies in Washington; and Barney Saunders of Cargill, since 1963 one of the world's biggest East-West grain traders.

The Russian delegation was headed by Gen. Mikhail Milshtein of GRU military intelligence, an acknowledged top expert on U.S. weapons technology. Also present was Andropov mouthpiece and top KGB operative Fyodor Burlatskii, whose recent writings in Literaturnaya Gazeta have denounced EIR founder Lyndon LaRouche, while calling the U.S. beam defense policy a casus belli. Georgi Arbatov's U.S.A. and Canada Institute was heavily represented, along with spokesmen for the patriarchate of the Russian Orthodox Church and the Russian All-Union Council of Evangelic Christian-Baptist Churches (the last seems to have been the Moscow point-man for Rev. Billy Graham's recent shocking "conversion" to Russian orthodoxy).

behind Mondale

Their agenda? As documented in an extraordinary EIR first-hand account (Will Moscow Become the Third and Final Rome? How the KGB Controls the Peace Movement, June 1983), that Minneapolis meeting organized an international movement designed to sabotage President Reagan's beam defense policy. The same session laid the groundwork for the Andropov-Carrington-Kissinger strategy of decoupling Western Europe from NATO and, as an integral part of both operations, plotted the electoral defeat of Ronald Reagan in 1984.

It is no accident that that treasonous gathering was hosted by the Hubert H. Humphrey Institute of Political Affairs. The Humphrey Institute at the University of Minnesota has become the new strategy-coordination center for the international network of conspirators behind organizations such as the Trilateral Commission and Aspen Institute. The aim of this group is nothing short of destruction of republican institutions and the obliteration of the essence of Western culture and the Judeo-Christian tradition.

The immediate tactical project occupying the Humphrey Institute and its director, Harlan Cleveland, is to install Walter Mondale in the White House, just as the Trilateral Commission was created in 1973 to orchestrate the Carter/Mondale presidency. Mondale is a "Distinguished University Fellow in Law and Public Affairs" at the Institute.

Eastern Establishment regrouping

By the time of the 1980 presidential campaign, it was obvious that the Carter/Mondale White House had badly damaged the credibility not only of the Democratic Party but also of the think tanks which had been publicly spotlighted, by this publication most prominently, as responsible for creating and marketing the Carter/Mondale presidency. The anonymity of groups such as Henry Kissinger's Trilateral Commission, of which both Carter and Mondale were members, had been destroyed. A top-level decision was finalized, probably sometime early in 1980, to make the then-fledgling Hubert Humphrey Institute the new base of operations for the same treasonous network. In fall 1980, Harlan Cleveland was asked to leave his pastoral Aspen Institute retreat in Princeton, New Jersey to head up the new Humphrey Institute in Minneapolis.

But what is most revealing is the identity of the man who was chosen to make an unusual visit to the lavish Lancaster House mansion in Great Britain to urge a select group of British business leaders to support a think tank run by the radical left wing of the Democratic Party. The fund-raiser was none other than Trilateral Commission Executive Director and former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, today the business partner of Britain's Peter Lord Carrington. Kissinger indicated the nature of the operation when he urged the audience to look "beyond the East Coast" for fresh ideas in foreign affairs "because the Eastern Establishment is out of energy and ideas." The highly select gathering included Kissinger intimate Lord Henry Weidenfeld of the publishing group by that name; Lord Marcus Seiff of the Marks & Spencer department store family, and Sir Hector Laing of United Biscuits, Ltd. The man they had tapped to head the whole enterprise, Harlan Cleveland, was also present, as was Ralf Dahrendorf, former head of the neo-liberal London School of Economics. The group outlined strategy for the "new Eastern Establishment" center in Minneapolis.

Very rapidly, in the wake of the Carter election debacle, former top Carter/Mondale operatives were relocated from Washington to the Humphrey Institute to begin planning the assault against the Reagan presidency. A look at who heads the Hubert Humphrey Institute reveals a collection of people whose explicit policy commitment is elimination of the world's "excess" population. It gathers together top policy strategists with operational capabilities from organized crime, organized labor, and some of the nation's largest and most secretive corporations including mystery-shrouded grain trading firms like Cargill and I. S. Joseph.

Here are the more notable operatives of the Hubert Humphrey Institute:

Walter Mondale—In addition to being on the board of Minneapolis-based Control Data Corp., one of the biggest advocates of trade with the Russians, Mondale has been appointed the Institute's one and only "Distinguished University Fellow in Law and Public Affairs." The post has given Mondale a patina of respectability which he is using to try to shed the aura of disaster of his Carter years.

Harlan Cleveland—A direct descendant of the van Buren family of traitors to the young American republic, Cleveland is a primary spokesman of the U.S. anti-science, Malthusian lobby. A Rhodes scholar, Cleveland's first assignment in 1942 was as an economic warfare specialist. He has since turned this training to use—against the United States! As John F. Kennedy's assistant secretary of state and Lyndon B. Johnson's ambassador to NATO, Cleveland was instrumental in launching the "arms control" process by which the United States began to disarm unilaterally, while Moscow launched a 20-year drive for strategic dominance. Since 1974 Cleveland has been prime strategist at Lord Bullock's Aspen

Marcus Raskin

Institute for Humanistic Studies, whose board includes Robert O. Anderson and Henry Kissinger. Cleveland is a director of the Hunger Project, founded by suspected swindler and KGB asset Werner Erhard (a.k.a. Jack Rosenberg) of the "est" brainwash factory.

Gus Speth—Carter/Mondale administration chairman of the notorious White House Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) and a founding member of the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), Speth is a Senior Fellow at the Humphrey Institute. Speth is directly responsible for policies which crippled U.S. industry and undermined U.S. exports, including of vital nuclear plant technology, since founding the NRDC in 1969 with Ford Foundation monies. As head of the CEQ, Speth was directly behind the Global 2000 policy document, which proposes to reduce the world's population by 2 billion because of "resource scarcity."

Dean Abrahamson—Another board member of the Natural Resources Defense Council environmental wrecking operation, Abrahamson is one of the most rabid wreckers of nuclear energy here and in Europe. He now heads the Humphrey Institute's Global Environment Policy project.

Walter Heller—Former economist in the Kennedy administration, Heller, a "left-wing Friedmanite," was chief of West German Internal Finance during the military occupation after World War II. This was during the brutal period of the "winter of the turnips" of forced starvation of the German population. Today Heller is using his post at the Humphrey Institute to push a "food control" policy that will mean mass starvation worldwide. Heller is a member of the Draper Fund/Population Crisis Committee, along with former Nazi SS-member H.R.H. Prince Bernhard. The Draper Fund is devoted to reduction of the non-white races. Its head, William Draper III, is director of the U.S. Export-Import Bank, and has used that post to sabotage U.S. technology exports to developing countries.

G. Edward Schuh—Another refugee from the Carter/Mondale administration, Schuh was Bob Bergland's deputy undersecretary for agriculture in charge of international affairs and commodity programs. Those programs were notoriously rigged to pour billions into the coffers of the privately-held Swiss and Minneapolis-based grain trading companies such as Cargill and I. S. Joseph, while simultaneously implementing policies to destroy the productivity of the American farmer. Schuh has just completed a joint RAND-MIT simulation which studied the impact of a "hypothetical" global grain crisis just at the time of the 1984 election. He is now heading up a project, with expected backing from Cargill, I. S. Joseph and other grain commodity firms, called "The Future of the North American Granary." That project is a comprehensive study of the vulnerabilities of the world's vital breadbasket.

The official Advisory Committee of the Humphrey Institute includes:

Lane Kirkland—Head of the AFL-CIO, Kirkland delivered the unprecedented pre-convention endorsement of the nation's biggest labor federation to Walter Mondale. Kirkland has been complicit, since at least 1982, in secret strategy sessions with fellow Trilateral Commission member Henry Kissinger to build a Mondale presidency to replace the "unpredictable" Reagan.

Orville Freeman—Secretary of agriculture under Kennedy in the early 1960s, Freeman is chairman of the Institute's Advisory Committee. One of the most important intelligence operatives behind political destabilization and deliberate famine and related operations, Freeman is chairman of Business International (see box). Freeman, like Mondale a direct protégé of the old Humphrey Democratic farm-labor machine in Minneapolis, has been in the middle of Soviet intelligence operations since at least 1963, when he arranged the first U.S. grain sale to Russia on behalf of the Big Five grain trading companies, led by Cargill. Freeman chairs the Malthusian Worldwatch Institute, which drafted much of the Carter administration's anti-technology legislation. He is a director of the Draper Fund along with Heller and Club of Rome chief Aurelio Peccei. Freeman is also a director of the kook operation called World Future Society along with Sol Linowitz.

Burton Joseph—A longtime Mondale crony, Joseph was brought in in 1963 by Freeman to broker the deal between the Russians and the Big Five grain trading houses. Joseph was head of the Minneapolis-based soybean trading house I. S. Joseph, widely known in agriculture circles as a front for the Big Five—Cargill, Continental, Louis-Dreyfus, Bunge, and Andre. It is Joseph who reportedly “opened the doors” to an unknown Turkish-Jewish refugee, then teaching at a Hebrew school in Minneapolis, and launched the less-than-kosher career of Meshulam Riklis. Riklis is co-owner with the late mobster Meyer Lansky’s reputed front-man Carl Lindner of the Rapid America Corporation, a giant holding company which owns Schenley Liquors, various race tracks, Cartier diamonds, real estate operations in New York, and Botany “500” clothing. Riklis was a major holder of the Meyer Lansky-run (now-defunct) Investors Overseas Services, through which hundreds of millions of dollars from organized crime were laundered until the collapse of IOS founder Bernie Cornfeld and Nixon backer Robert Vesco in the early 1970s. Riklis, when not gazing at his porno film star wife, Pia Zadora, is reported to be a major covert financial backer of Israeli cabinet minister operative Ariel Sharon.

Burton Joseph himself is one of the world’s most influential men in the murky and enormously powerful world of food commodity trading. He is associated with Tel Aviv-based Shaul Eisenberg, one of the world’s leading arms and food commodity-traders whose ties to the old Lansky syndicate of organized crime are considerable.

Business International: zero growth associates

Since its establishment in 1954, Business International (BI) has become one of the most influential corporate intelligence sources for American companies doing business abroad. BI on the surface is a blue-ribbon “objective” research and advisory group, providing essential intelligence on market stability, investment prospects around the world, and the like. A look at who is behind this group demolishes this facade.

Headed by Chairman Orville Freeman, the BI board of directors is made up of some of the world’s leading advocates of Malthusian deindustrialization and zero growth. Joining Freeman is the man who heads up the infamous Club of Rome, Aurelio Peccei. Also on the board are Lord Alastair Pilkington and his wife. Lord Pilkington is a director of the Bank of England and British Petroleum (BP). BP was complicit in the 1978-79 destabilization of the Shah of Iran, among other crimes. Also sitting with Freeman on BI’s board is Sol Linowitz, a Kissinger crony and one of Mondale’s leading foreign-policy advisers, whose Linowitz Commission on Central America paved the way for the re-entry of Henry Kissinger into official Washington politics.

Another board member of BI, Walter Stoessel, is one of the Council on Foreign Relations’ top Moscow hands. Stoessel was credited with drafting Kissinger’s 1969 “China Card” policy, which undercut the vital Pacific alliance built up after the war. Considered close to Averell Harriman, Stoessel was ambassador to Moscow from 1974 to 1976, the most critical post in the Kissinger State Department.

BI can play an essential support role for various political destabilization operations by circulating a carefully crafted scenario, like its 1982 report that because of President Ferdinand Marcos’ poor health, Philippine investment stability must be considered riskier. BI is a vehicle for creating self-fulfilling prophecies, through channels which intend to undermine U.S. industrial export ties in strategic regions of the world.
