

THE 1988 ALEXANDRIA HOAX

How I Terrorized the Fascist!

by Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr.

October 15, 2006

Very few Americans, and also others, realize how much of the ruin our nation and their lives have suffered, increasingly, since February 1983, is the side-effect of the fraudulent charges and conviction directed against me as an immediate reaction to President Ronald Reagan's March 23, 1983 presentation, in which the President confirmed what I had presented in my role in conducting a back-channel discussion, over the interval February 1982-1983, with the Soviet government, a proposal which President Reagan named "a Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI)."

As a reaction against the President's March 23 address, the notorious John Train launched the crafting of a vast, entirely fraudulent campaign of charges leading to my indictment and fraudulently crafted conviction of December 1988. Train's operations against me, as coordinated through a series of his salons, were conducted in concert with accomplices including the notorious fascist James Jesus Angleton and the hard core of the entire right-wing apparatus associated today, with the fascist circles associated closely with Richard Mellon Scaife, William F. Buckley, Jr., et al., and with the role of the fascist operation headed by Mrs. Lynne Cheney and the apparatus of the Goebbels-like ACTA operation.

What Lynne Cheney and her brutish husband have done, by Lynne Cheney's leading role in launching the Goebbels-like campaign of political oppression against university professors, their students, and others at now over a hundred U.S. universities and colleges, has been to expose that fascist apparatus associated with John Train's network as a clear and present danger to continued existence of civilization on this planet today.

Therefore, certain things become very, very clear, when we consider Train's central, international role, in orchestrating fraudulent charges and other harassment against me and my associates, among others, and look back at the way in which Train took up a leading initiating role, in collaborating with known Nazi-linked elements and other fascists, for legal prosecution against me, in responding to my role in President Reagan's proffer of March 23, 1983. I have always known these connections, and known the fact of Train's leading role in this process; the difference is, now, that no honest and intelligent person in the U.S.A. and Europe could continue to deny this fact.

Consider the following typical facts:

1. By no later than July-August 1982, according to FOIA documents released by the FBI, Henry Kissinger was personally placing pressure on FBI Director William Webster, to launch a fraudulent prosecution of Lyndon LaRouche and associates. This activation by Kissinger involved collusion with James Jesus Angleton, Jay Lovestone, William F. Buckley, Jr., the ADL's Irwin Suall, and Freedom House's Leo Cherne. Cherne admitted in a mid-1980s interview, conducted in conjunction with fraudulent prosecutions of LaRouche and associates, that the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board (PFIAB), which he co-chaired, had created a monitoring unit targeting LaRouche, in response to LaRouche's "Operation Juárez" and his collaboration with Mexico's President José López Portillo, to deal with the Mexican, Ibero-American, and overall Third World debt crisis.

2. In January 1983, according to FOIA documents, Cherne, Edward Bennett Williams, David Abshire, and other members of PFIAB joined in the Kissinger-instigated effort to launch a bogus investigation and prosecution of LaRouche and associates, on the wholly fraudulent grounds that

WASHINGTON — While the existence of any conspiracy against Lyndon LaRouche from U.S. governmental or other sources has yet to be proved, documents made available through the Freedom of Information Act show that

For example, Henry Kissinger wrote a letter to FBI director William H. Webster, dated August 12, 1982, complaining about the "increasingly obnoxious" behavior of LaRouche supporters.

Kissinger, a favorite target of LaRouche publications, asked Webster for advice "especially with respect to security." He

The LaRouche organization has maintained it had a working relationship with the National Security Council early in the Reagan administration until 1983-84. It also maintains that much of the seeds for the plans for covert activity in Nicaragua, Angola, Afghanistan and elsewhere were started in late 1980, when Reagan's election became JUSTICE in the Lyndon B. LaRouche trial and yesterday they would have found him innocent if the case did not suddenly end in a mistrial.

A federal judge declared the material possessing the LaRouche and his aides, ruling that four of the 14 jurors would suffer "severe hardship" if the four-month trial continued.

In a separate case taken to the jury room after they were warned, jurors usually routinely decided they'd find LaRouche, his aides and Four LaRouche organizations were charged with committing fraud, all of which allegedly occurred during LaRouche's 1984 presidential bid.

"I suspect none of the government's people wanted the problem [for LaRouche's bid]," said Danaher, adding that evidence showed people working on behalf of the government "may have been involved in some of this fraud to discredit the campaign."

"It certainly shows a lot of trouble that the government's side wasn't helped by that."

Press coverage of LaRouche's 1988 Boston trial shows how close the defendants came to wrecking the "Get LaRouche" operation of John Train et al. The judge called a mistrial, but a new trial was called in Alexandria, Virginia's "rocket docket," which ended in conviction of all defendants on trumped-up charges.

LaRouche trial judge orders search of Vice President Bush's index files

The federal judge presiding at the trial of Lyndon LaRouche and was infiltrated, they will seek to have the trial dismissed.

A document declassified and released Wednesday appeared to indicates that an informant, Fred Lewis, had told FBI agents that he had collected information against LaRouche.

LaRouche was on the Soviet payroll.

3. During the period leading to President Reagan's March 23, 1983 SDI speech, Kissinger had personally assured the Soviet government of General Secretary Yuri Andropov that the President would never endorse LaRouche's ballistic missile defense proposals. Kissinger and related Anglo-American channels into the Soviet leadership would shortly be activated in a coordinated "Get LaRouche" effort, aimed at breaking the LaRouche-Reagan SDI collaboration.

4. The moment that President Reagan gave his historic March 23, 1983 speech, over the strenuous opposition of virtually his entire cabinet (Secretary of State George Shultz, Chief of Staff James A. Baker III, Vice President George H.W. Bush, et al.), the entire Kissinger apparatus went ballistic and launched an immediate escalation of the already simmering "Get LaRouche" campaign.

5. On April 23, 1983, John Train convened the first of three salon meetings at his New York City residence, to orchestrate a vicious media slander campaign against LaRouche, involving major media outlets like NBC-TV News, Readers Digest, the Washington Post, the New Republic, Business Week, and the Wall Street Journal. Over the course of the next three years, leading into the Oct. 6-7, 1986 Federal, state, and local police armed assault on LaRouche publishing offices and LaRouche's residence, scores of slanders appeared in these publications and others, all derived from a fabricated script presented by Train and his circles at the "Get LaRouche" task force sessions. Roy Godson, among other officials and consultants to the Reagan-Bush National Security Council, Pentagon, and State Department, participated in the Train salon sessions, along with right-wing moneybags Richard Mellon Scaife.

6. Through Kissinger and other British-agent channels, Soviet news organs fully participated in the "Get LaRouche" media onslaught, and pressed for bogus criminal prosecutions against LaRouche.

7. One of the most egregious instances of direct collusion between John Train, his salon of slanderers, and Soviet counterparts involved the flagrant lie that LaRouche was behind the February 1986 assassination of Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme. Indeed, shortly before the Palme assassination, John Train's New York investment house had been bought out by the Swedish state bank, PK Banken, raising serious questions about Train's own knowledge and role in the circumstances leading to Palme's assassination. Soviet and East German state-linked news outlets echoed the Train salon line that "LaRouche killed Palme." Furthermore, new Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachov lent his support to the "Get LaRouche" slander and frame-up campaign, a fact demonstrated by his desperate efforts to break the Reagan-LaRouche SDI alliance at the Reykjavik, Iceland summit, which occurred within days of the October 1986 raids on LaRouche's Leesburg, Virginia facilities.

8. Other close Train and Angleton assets, associated with the Heritage Foundation, its front group High Frontier, Gen. Danny Graham, et al., played key supporting roles in the drive to kill the LaRouche-Reagan SDI. They launched a series of bogus front groups, typified by High Frontier, which ostensibly supported the SDI, but subverted the fundamental concept of U.S.-Soviet collaboration in developing and deploying a global ballistic missile defense system, using new physical principle defensive systems. Danny Graham and other Kissinger-Angleton assets proposed various "Rube Goldberg" off-the-shelf missile defense systems that could never work, as part of the effort to subvert the Reagan-LaRouche initiative, even after Andropov and, later, Gorbachov, repeatedly rejected the Reagan offer of collaboration in ending thermo-nuclear terror.
