EIR

From the Editor

In the face of a push for genocide, both within the United States and around the world, which threatens the very survival of civilization, LaRouchePAC scheduled an international webcast on the wave of the future, the development of thermonuclear fusion power, on Oct. 26, aimed at advancing that agenda, as an urgent priority. This issue of EIR brings you the transcript of the opening presentations, which take on not only the subject-matter, but also the brainwashing of “no limits to growth” which has run amok over the last 45 years. What is presented is the outlook mankind needs for survival.

The strategic and economic overview which is presented elsewhere in the issue, virtually screams out for that optimistic, scientific perspective.

First, the way the threat of thermonuclear war has come to the fore, is highlighted by the strategic developments around China and Russia—which are generally being suppressed in the Western media. The crisis over the British/Obama global spying outrages, especially against Germany, only ups the tension, as Helga Zepp-LaRouche reports.

The economic reality is equally stark, as our picture of Obama’s deliberate genocide in depriving Americans of food and medical care makes graphically clear. The counterpoint to that is the activity of exceptional persons such as Dr. Mark Shelley, whose call against “murderous Obamacare” we featured in our last issue. This week, we go back to Dr. Shelley’s presentation from January of this year, at a Schiller Institute conference in New York City, entitled “The Commoditization of Health Care,” which gives you his diagnosis of how the current horrors came out.

The need for impeaching Obama, and the motion toward that desirable result, is the focus of our national coverage. The added element is an inspiring discussion between Lyndon LaRouche and former New Jersey Congressman Cornelius Gallagher, which occurred at a political event last weekend. These two elder statesmen, both in their early 90s, share an inspiring optimism about the ability to break free of the police-state environment to which Congress is now capitulating.
